

COLOR US BLACK:

A Diary for African Americans

"A Tribute to Black History"

Color Us Black is a celebration of African-American History through poetry, prose, song and dance. A talented Cast of teenaged Actors and Actresses will spend approximately six weeks rehearsing, in order to present a dramatic stroll through history. The play traces the African-American story from its roots in Africa to the historic inauguration of President Obama. Specific eras will be highlighted by dramatizing the artistic works of famous and not so famous African-Americans. The primary goal of this production is to educate young African-Americans on their rich history, that is not being maintained from generation to generation. "Color Us Black" will promote pride in the African-American struggle and highlight some of the great contributions made by people of color.
